Healthcare and Church Planting

Among Unreached Low-Income Communities in SE Asia

Lessons learned

- Healthworker training builds trust with government authorities and provides a platform for a long-term presence in creative access countries.
- Community Health projects help establish relationships of trust with villagers wary of outsiders.
- Healthcare access saves lives and opens hearts to the good news of Jesus Christ.