Use your hobby to disciple teen girls in missions

What are things teen girls love?

- Fellowship
- Community
- Hands-on Ministry
- Craft Nights
- Food

Teenagers are craving community with other women and a place to be encouraged.

A teen girl's missions small group provides an opportunity for girls to grow missionally and strengthen their relationship with Christ through missions involvement, Bible study, and prayer.

Use your hobby to gather girls and infuse missions in all you do.

As you craft, sew, paint, or fellowship, include creative ways to learn about missions, pray for missions, support missions and do missions.

Really, it's all in the planning.

- Use the Bible Study
- Come up with an activity
- Put your faith to action

It's that easy! This resources has a few ideas to help you get started.

Ideas for Groups

Crafting Night

Host a craft night, once a month or once a quarter, and include missions challenges in your conversation as you craft. You might also choose to make crafts that can go along with a missions project. Whether you make wreaths, quilt, crochet, or use your Cricut, find ways to share the gospel with those crafts.

Painting Party

Host a painting party. Can you sell your pieces of art to raise funds for your missions efforts at church? Can you paint beautiful pictures for the elderly living in a nursing homes? You get the Idea!

Cookie Decorating

Have a desire to learn a new skill? Have someone come to your gathering and teach you how to decorate cookies. Plan an activity to take your works of yummy art to bless first responders in your community. This idea has tons of potential for more opportunities to blessing others.

Garden Master

What a great opportunity to connect with women who have green thumbs. Use this teachable moment to connect and build some "Titus 2" relationships with women from different age groups.

Girls Night Out

Foodies unite, with a missional twist! Gather some friends and visit a new restaurant with cuisine from other countries. Learn about those countries and pray for lostness in those areas of the world.

Edible Art

Breaking bread together doesn't have to be boring! Have a night to get creative with your food and use a Charcuterie Spread to teach cultural awareness. This is a great idea for praying for Muslims during their Eid al-Fitr celebration when they break their fast from Ramadan.
