

Two days. Experienced instructors. Practical knowledge. Professional relationships that extend well beyond the conference.

LEARN FROM THOSE WHO KNOW MINISTRY SECURITY

Our instructors include seasoned security professionals, experienced ministry leaders, law enforcement personnel, and individuals who have firsthand knowledge of critical incidents. Attendees will explore the principles and practical applications of effective church security, from understanding why security matters to implementing how it should be done.

MORE THAN TRAINING. A NETWORK OF PROFESSIONALS.

Connect with fellow church security directors, volunteers, pastors, ministry leaders, law enforcement officers, and first responders who share a commitment to protection churches across the U.S. Come prepared to learn. Leave better equipped to serve.

Who Should Attend?

- Church security directors, team leaders and volunteers
- Pastors, ministry leaders, and church administrators
- Law enforcement officers and first responders
- Those developing or improving a church safety and security program
- Professionals serving faith-based organizations

Join the Faith Based Security Network (FBSN) for two days of practical training, professional development, and meaningful connections with fellow ministry security professionals from across the western United States. Whether you are establishing a church security program, strengthening an existing team or leading a ministry with complex security needs, this conference is designed to equip you with the knowledge, resources, and relationships needed to serve your ministry well.
